AncestryLibrary gives you access to more than 9,000 databases and 200 billion images from the United States, the United Kingdom, Canada, Europe, and Australia. Once the records you need are located, you can email them to yourself in two easy steps!

The screenshot shows the Ancestry.com interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for Home, Search, Message Boards, Learning Center, Charts and Forms, and New Collections. Below the navigation bar, there is a breadcrumb trail: < All Results. The main heading of the page is "in the California, Marriage Index, 1949-1959".

- Name: [REDACTED]
- Gender: Female
- Estimated birth year: abt 1930
- Age: 24
- Marriage Date: 3 Jul 1954
- Marriage Place: [REDACTED], California, USA
- Spouse: [REDACTED]
- Spouse Age: 26

Below the record card is a "Source Information" section with the following text:

AncestryLibrary is a read-only database. While it has powerful search engines that help you pinpoint genealogical records, you'll need a personal Ancestry.com subscription to create and edit family trees, message or collaborate with other Ancestry.com users, or access One World Tree.
